How risky is it?

The value of the fund can go down as well as up. You could lose money.

One way to gauge risk is to look at how much a fund's returns change over time. This is called "volatility".

In general, funds with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. Funds with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.

Risk rating

CIBC has rated the volatility of this fund as Medium.

This rating is based on how much the fund's returns have changed from year to year. It does not tell you how volatile the fund will be in the future. The rating can change over time. A fund with a low risk rating can still lose money.

For more information about the risk rating, refer to Investment Risk Classification Methodology under Specific Information about Each of the Mutual Funds Described in this Document in the fund's simplified prospectus. For more information about specific risks that can affect the fund's returns, refer to the simplified prospectus under the section What are the Risks of Investing in the Fund? for the fund.

No guarantees

Like most mutual funds, this fund does not have any guarantees. You may not get back the amount of money you invest.

Investors who:

- are seeking a broadly diversified U.S. equity fund and returns similar to those of the entire U.S. equity market; and
- are investing for the long term.

A word about tax

In general, you will have to pay income tax on any money you make on a fund. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether or not you hold the fund in a registered plan such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan (RRSP) or a Tax-Free Savings Account (TFSA).

Keep in mind that if you hold your fund in a non-registered plan, fund distributions are included in your taxable income, whether you receive them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

The following tables show the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own, and sell Class A units of the fund. The fees and expenses - including any commissions - can vary among classes of a fund and among funds. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other funds and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

On or about July 23, 2018, we will begin our program to automatically convert eligible investors from Class A units into the Premium Class units of the Fund (bearing a lower management fee) when their investment amount in Class A units of the Fund, or their aggregated investment amount in Class A units and Premium Class units of the Fund, within a single account meets the minimum investment amount of Premium Class units of $50,000. Eligible investors will benefit from a management fee decrease. See Automatic conversion program below under the sub-heading Fund expenses. If you no longer meet the minimum investment amount for Premium Class units, we may convert your Premium Class units back into Class A units which have a higher management fee. See Purchases, Switches and Redemptions in the Fund's simplified prospectus and speak to your investment advisor for additional details.

More about the trailing commission

The trailing commission is an ongoing commission. It is paid for as long as you own the fund. It is for the services and advice that your representative and their firm provide to you.

CIBC pays the trailing commission to your representative's firm. It is paid from the fund's management fee and is based on the value of your investment.

For Class A units, a trailing commission of 0% to 0.25% of the value of your investment each year ($0.00 to $2.50 each year on every $1,000 invested) is paid from the management fee.

You may have to pay other fees when you buy, hold, sell, switch, or convert units of the fund.
